Police Block 'All-Out War' By Teen Gangs

Daly City police and firemen arrived at Jefferson High School Sunday afternoon in time to prevent what might have erupted into a serious gang war.

On receiving a report that trouble was brewing, Officers Frank Murray, Richard Sims, Ralph Warren and Steve Steen rushed to the scene, to find 22 young men in the process of taking up sides in preparation for a pitched battle. As the police cars drew up, several youths advanced toward cars parked in the area. The police officers moved in fast, rounded up the group and searched them. One boy, 16, was found to be carrying a 16-inch Japanese bayonette. In their cars they found an assortment of weapons ranging from modern to the most primitive.

A Daly City Fire Department truck was summoned and the entire group transported to City Hall for questioning. There it was learned that the boys were members of three separate gangs, the "Hawaiian Warriors" and "Los Fantasimos" of Daly City and the "Untouchables" of San Francisco's Mission District. The object of the encounter was to "settle" an incident involving the injury of one of the "Untouchables," who had been struck on the head by a "Hawaiian Warrior" at a party the night before. Members of the avenging gang admitted that their ultimatum was for the Daly City forces to cover the cost of their adversary's medical expenses or square off for battle.

The injured boy, aged 17, and suffering from laceration of the scalp and concussion, passed out en route to City Hall and had to be driven to Junipera Serra Hospital for treatment.

At the Police Station, the 21 remaining gang-members were severely reprimanded for their actions. All ranged between age 14 and 20. The youth with the bayonette was cited for carrying a concealed and dangerous weapon, and will appear in court.

Included in the gangs' arsenal were: one axe, two clubs, a softball bat, three knives alfost a foot long, one hammer, a toy German "Luger," three iron bars, a screwdriver, an eight-inch scythe, a length of hose and three can-openers.

WITH only 150 more feet to cover in the long journey between Los Angeles and a Daly City dealer, a 1961 Plymouth rolls off its carrier and crashes into a Mission street sidewalk. The incident occurred at 2:45 last Monday afternoon across the street from James E. Donahue Co., recipients-to-be of the new vehicle. The car, barely scratched, was righted and towed away within minutes. No one was hurt.

Tempest Over Lawn Finds Association Defending By-Laws

Officials of Westlake Subdivisions Improvement Association held their ground today in the face of a weekend uproar that appeared in the metropolitan papers as a virtual "shotgun feud."

The commotion concerns homeowner Jack Klein, eight-year Westlake resident at 97 Lake Forest drive, who was given 15 days notice last Saturday to return his uprooted front lawn to its original condition or face the consequences.

The consequences are having the Association restore the lawn to its former status quo and billing Klein, president of Local 6 of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers Union, for the replacement costs.

Klein, 53, and his wife, Sally, re-landscaped their lawn—a three-months project costing $300 and requiring the services of a professional architect — "because the lawn was withering with fungus and we just had to do something about it."

In place of the lawn, Klein has planted junipers, azaleas, ivy and cactus, centered by a birdbath.

The Association last Saturday mailed Klein a letter signed by Association attorney Hartley Appleton, informing Klein that his "new look" frontage was in violation of the Association's by-laws—that Klein needed written permission of the Association to effect any changes on his property and that lawn frontages are mandatory.

Unless Klein corrected the situation within 15 days, the letter emphasized, the Association would restore the lawn, or in an ultimate, step, would take legal action against the homeowner.

Emory Schoolcraft, 267 Palisades drive, a manufacturer's representative who is chairman of the Association's board of directors, answered reporters' inquiries thusly:

"Our by-laws contain certain restrictions which are intended to preserve and increase individual property values in Westlake. These restrictions run with the individual deeds and must be enforced by the Association if we are to realize our objectives for keeping Westlake the fine community it is.

"Apparently, Mr. Klein was unaware that one of our restrictions is that Westlake homes must have lawn frontages," said Schoolcraft.

Both Schoolcraft and Klein on Monday conceded that the dispute may have been slightly exaggerated.

Klein, however, wouldn't indicate if he would comply to Appleton's written mandate.

"I've lived in Westlake several years and I want to do my part in the betterment of this area," explained Klein. "I have nothing against the Association—it's a good thing if it is run right . . . but I have some reservations on that point."

Continued Klein: "I lived here three years before I learned I had to belong to the Association. Then they (WSIA) told me I was $21 behind in paying them their yearly dues. I haven't paid the dues because I don't think the Association has done much to inform Westlake residents about its authority.

"I know I have done nothing to devaluate my property or that of my neighbors. As far as the lawn is concerned, I had no alternative. It's condition — despite expensive treatment — had bothered me for about two years. I decided to tear it out, and replace it with something more suitable under the circumstances."

Although Klein scored the Association for lack of communication to residents on the by-laws and restrictions, Schoolcraft and Appleton said the Association does apprise homeowners of their individual obligations to the Association under the covenants and restrictions in the deeds.

Appleton explained that much of the controversy confronting the Association results from "honest unawareness" of the Association's goals and its requirements of homeowners — via the individual deeds and by-laws.

"We don't like to make it unreasonable for anybody," said Appleton. "We usually find that homeowners who do things contrary to the restrictions support us after we explain our

Autos Collide After Driver Dozes At Wheel

A young South San Francisco man fell asleep at the wheel of his car early Saturday morning, and awoke too late to avert a collision.

Gerald S. O'Sullivan, 23, dozing near 742 Hillside boulevard, instinctively slammed on the brakes after snapping back to consciousness. His car skidded, swung around and ran obliquely into an automobile driven by Desmond B. Epindendio, 38, of 25 Florence street, Daly City. Epedendio's wife Dolores, 34, a passenger, was injured in the mishap and rushed to Junipero Serra Hospital.

Ditched Car Reveals Stolen Safe

Evidence of a San Francisco burglary was found in a station wagon, abandoned on an Eastmoor avenue embankment early Monday morning.

Police found the car off the road opposite the entrance to Westmoor High School. Inside was a safe which had been pried open, its contents strewn around the floor of the vehicle. Among the papers were checks in the name of a San Francisco service station.

The car was traced to its owner, Gayle W. Holmes of Hillsdale, who admitted leaving it at Babe Zanca's Service, 2120 Polk street, for maintenance. Police then learned that the repair shop had been burglarized and the car used to cart away the safe. There are no suspects in the case.

Baby Dies After Night Of Fever

An infant child, found unconscious by his mother Monday morning, was rushed to the Junipero Serra Hospital and pronounced dead on arrival.

Mrs. Lois Payne, of 125 Hunnington avenue, reported that her baby, Kevin, 16 months, had been feverish the previous day and that when she checked on him at 8 a.m. he was blue in the face and not breathing.

A Daly City Fire Department resuscitator crew worked for 25 minutes in a vain attempt to revive the child.

MURDER SUSPECT CAPTURED HERE IN MOTEL ROOM

A Canadian with many aliases, wanted in Oakland for murder, was apprehended early Saturday, thanks to efforts of the Daly City Police force.

Harry Glen McKenzie, 25, also known as Virgil Davis and Robert Lorne James, was arrested here following receipt of an alert from the Oakland Police Department.

A few hours before, he had shot and killed an accomplice in a bar near the Oakland Tribune Building for refusing to assist him in the hold-up of a San Francisco tavern. The victim, Richard Turner, died within minutes. McKenzie escaped in his car and headed for Daly City.

Shortly after midnight Friday, Sergeant Jerry Galindo and Officer Al Nicolini went to the Mission Bell Motel at 6843 Mission street to find the suspect. Although registered under an assumed name, that of Robert L. James of Kansas, the suspect's description by motel night manager, Lee Rambo, matched perfectly that given by Oakland police.

McKenzie was not at home. The police officers waited. At 1 a.m. a vehicle, also matching the given description, pulled up. Nicolini and Galindo advanced, guns drawn. The suspect emerged, with hands up, and after brief interrogation was driven to the police station.

Oakland police arrived soon after and the suspect was turned over to them. Though staying at the Mission Bell Motel, McKenzie was also identified as a resident of the New San Francisco Motel, 6925 Mission street.

He admitted, during questioning, that he, Turner, another man and two young women, were members of a gang which had been operating for some time in the Bay area. All had been staying at the New San Francisco Motel. Daly City police rounded up the remaining three, who were identified

POLICE SLATE RADAR 'DEBUT' HERE SHORTLY

In less than three weeks, Daly City police will put into use a portable radar unit designed to check and control speed in this city.

"Speed check for radar" signs have been posted for a week or so now at points where the new unit will probably be operated. The signs are located at certain spots along Hillside boulevard, Skyline drive, Southgate avenue and St. Francis boulevard.

"The radar unit is not stationary," explains Sergeant Hank Sundermann, "but will be attached to a patrol car parked at strategic points in the city. Department personnel will be trained to operate it."

The unit will be put into effect January 3, 1961.

ONE of the oldest foreign cars in Daly City is pictured here with its proud owner, Bob Byrne. Byrne bought the auto, a 1933 Rolls-Royce "Sports Saloon," in England last summer. Seen with him, at left, is Louis Pisani, manager of Bank of America's Daly City branch. Both men will be active in the city's 50th Anniversary Celebration next year. The Rolls-Royce, with 187,000 miles behind it, may be entered in the Celebration's Antique Car Show. Mr. Byrne, the father of two teen-aged daughters, lives in San Mateo, and is the owner of Byrne Radio & T-V, Daly City.

WIDOW, 48, EXPLAINS CIRCUMSTANCES

Broadmoor Shopping Center Site Of 'Vengeful' Killing; Notes Show Episode Planned

A long-brewing reign of terror involving a 48-year-old Daly City woman and her former husband ended in double tragedy Tuesday night at busy Broadmoor Shopping Center.

When a swarm of Daly City police officers arrived in front of Central Hardware, 2398 Junipero Serra, about 9 p.m. they found two victims of a clear-cut love triangle dead on the sidewalk.

Witnesses said they saw Robert Krischer, 71, fire a .38 revolver bullet into the back of the head of Central Hardware employee Clifford W. Kiefer, 52, and then turn the gun on himself, firing a fatal bullet into his right temple.

It didn't take long for Daly City police to determine the motive. They learned from distraught Mrs. Rita Kiefer, 53 B Station avenue, that she divorced Krischer three years ago after a stormy marriage of 13 years. She said she married Kiefer two years ago, and since that time she and Kiefer on numerous occasions had been threatened by her ex-husband.

Police Capt. Roy Beecher, accompanied by Chief Roland Petrocchi, Lt. Bruno Conci, Officer Phil LaBruzzo, Sgt. Charles Terry, and Officers Jim Sunderland and Frank Murray, learned that both victims formerly were co-partners in a San Francisco hardware firm. Kiefer, Beecher explained, tried to keep his residence address a secret because of Krischer's constant fanatical threats.

Central Hardware witnesses said Krischer just recently learned Kiefer's place of employment and plotted Tuesday's bizarre episode. Beecher was informed that Kiefer was attempting to return front sidewalk display items into the store just before closing time, 9 p.m., when Krischer approached him from the rear. The killer, carrying a "fake" bag of groceries, apparently to make passersby think he was just a shopper, quickly fired twice at the bent-over Kiefer. One bullet went directly in the back of Kiefer's head and out his forehead. Then in a non-hesitant move, Krischer raised the gun to his temple and took his own life.

Both men were pronounced dead on arrival at Junipero Serra hospital.

In Krischer's car, parked nearby, and on the slayer police found "rambling" notes, indicating that Krischer long had premeditated the slaying and his own self destruction. One of these notes concluded with "Revenge is Sweeter Than Justice—Vengeance Is Mine."

The shocked Mrs. Kiefer told police that her life the past few years—due to Krischer's threats—has been a nightmare.

"He (Krischer) loved me very much, but I never loved him."

Krischer's address was 2036 Great Highway. He was employed by Ocean Beach Hardware, 3039 Judah street.

Billboard Ordinance To Council

Three new ordinances—each of them vital to Daly City's welfare and progress—were on Monday's city council agenda.

Taken under study by the council was the new subdivision ordinance, a document that has been urged for several years and will tighten building regulations.

The subdivision ordinance was drafted by City Manager Edward Frank, City Engineer Bill Chapman and City Attorney Paul Hupf.

At its next regular meeting, December 27th, the council will comment on the subdivision ordinance and explain its major provisions.

Introduced was a new city ordinance regulating billboards and other advertising structures—by height and location. Hupf explained that under this ordinance firms will have to secure planning commission and council approval for use permits on all billboards and the various other advertising signs. The ordinance specifically would prohibit erection of billboards on or too close to proposed freeways here—consistent with the landscape and beautification concept of keeping freeways free of non-directional signs.

The third ordinance—prohibition of loitering in city parks and playgrounds after dark—will be prepared by Hupf. It was recommended by the recreation commission to stem vandalism and improper conduct. The city manager said the police department welcomes

State Reprimands 7 Daly City Drivers

Seven Daly City driver were affected by recent rulings of the State Department of Motor Vehicles in Sacramento.

The following either had their licenses suspended or revoked for having bad driving records which indicate the inability to drive safely, according to the state bulletin:

Personnel Board Backs Police Chief In Patrolman Case

Daly City's personnel board has turned down Police Officer Steve Steen's appeal on his 30-day suspension last month by Chief Roland Petrocchi.

City Manager Edward Frank today said the board in a letter last week supported Petrocchi's decision.

Steen, represented by attorney Gregory Stout in a hearing two weeks ago, wrecked his patrol car on Junipero Serra the night of October 28 in pursuit of a speeder. The 33-year-old officer allowed his wife to stay with him in the police car during the chase — a violation of police rules and the cause of the suspension, according to Petrocchi.

The personnel board held that there was "no direct or implied consent given Steen by his superiors to transport his wife home with him, for midnight lunch, in the police car, and Steen showed a lack of good judgment in allowing his wife to remain in the vehicle while he pursued the reckless driver . . . therefore we concur in the position of the police chief."

Steen, who earlier said he might go to court if he were turned down, through Stout at the hearing insisted that he was given permission to transport his wife and that his judgment was correct. Petrocchi and the superiors in charge the night of the incident said no such permission was granted.

The officer returned to his duties December 1.

He maintains that his appeal was based on principle and the financial handicap of forfeiting a month's salary, $550.

Both Steen and his wife were badly bruised in the smashup.

Daly City Woman Hospitalized After Suicide Attempt

Dorothy Fiduccia, 40, of 263 Crocker avenue, was rushed to Kaiser Hospital in South San Francisco early Monday morning after assertedly swallowing an unknown number of Phenobarbitol tablets.

Her husband, Vincent, 48, became concerned with Mrs. Fiduccia locked herself in the family bathroom and failed to come out after a long period. Unable to arouse her after knocking and calling out, Fiduccia broke down the door and found his wife on the floor, unconscious.

Fiduccia stated that she appeared to be in a nervous state since an abdominal operation several months ago.

Gus, head of the water department since 1952, has worked for the city of Daly City the past 24 years.

A native of San Francisco, Gus has lived here 53 years. He and wife Madeline reside at 75 Avalon drive in the Palisades. Their daughter, Mrs. Barbara Parodi, lives at 282 Third avenue, Daly City.

Daylight Burglars Take $125 In Cash, Wrist-watch

Burglars stole $125 in cash and a $75 man's wristwatch from the home of a Daly City woman last Friday afternoon.

Jacqueline Bianconi, 32, of 337 Vista Grande avenue, reports that she returned home at 2 p.m. after an hour's absence to find the items missing from a dresser drawer.

The suspect had entered the house by forcing open the basement door with a ½-inch prying tool.

Teacher Protests Vacation Pay

The Jefferson Elementary School District Board of Trustees has denied a resigning teacher salary applying to a period after her date of departure.

Mrs. Elizabeth Jolliffe, 29, who will leave Benjamin Franklin Elementary School December 16, maintains that she is entitled to pay for the Christmas vacation period and has asked Richard L. Foster, District Superintendent, to release her from her contract as of January 3, 1961. Mrs. Jolliffe, who must resign in order to join her husband, who is accepting a job in Colorado next month, takes the stand that she is due the full December installment of her annual salary, payable in 12 monthly installments.

"This is the first case of its kind that has come before us," commented Foster at the School Board's meeting last Monday night, "wherein a teacher leaving prematurely has asked us to consider a resignation date after the actual time of departure."

The Board was unanimous in its feeling that such a consideration might amount to a "gift of public funds."

"And," commented Board member Joseph Lewkowitz, "changing our policy now on the basis of this isolated case might be a mistake too hard to rectify in the future."

However, from the personal standpoint, members were sympathetic with Mrs. Jolliffe, who considers her departure from Benjamin Franklin "a most unhappy chore." Foster added that the young woman had performed well as a teacher.

Man, 39, Stricken At Westlake Lounge

The Daly City Fire Department was called to assist a 39-year-old Westlake man, who suffered a heart attack at the Westlake Lounge last Thursday afternoon. such a law here.

In other agenda matters, the council:

1. Heard verbal reports on the city's budget position by Director of Finance Joseph Arch and City Auditor Bob Hunter. Arch said the city's financial position and departmental adherence to the adopted budget are good, "much better than a year ago," and he indicated more improvements are needed in budget and accounting reports. Hunter concurred substantially, and reiterated his thinking that his reports to the council as auditor should not duplicate the quarterly and soon monthly reports by Arch. Hunter is required to make an annual audit report, but the council has suggested he report in person at the quarterly intervals to explain the usually technical figures. Under Arch, the city has instituted a streamlined program of more frequent budget reports in an attempt to apprise the council on how each department is using allocated funds. Hunter indicated that the new chart of accounts and funds allotment system instituted in Arch's office is sound, business-like practice and an asset to the city.

2. Authorized establishment of a new taxi-cab zone for Yellow Cab, in front of 6290 Mission, and ordered parking meters returned to former taxi-stand on Hillcrest drive in front of Kirchhubel's tavern.

3. Denied $402 damage claim filed against city by Walter Skaggs Jr., 399 Woodrow street, for damage sustained by his automobile in a collision with a city vehicle. The claim was referred to the city's insurance carrier.

4. Conducted public hearing, no protests, on condemnation on vacant, 50-year-old residence at 162 Los Olivos avenue. Fire Chief Elmer Kennedy, Bttn. Chief Frank Specht, and City Building Inspector George Hopman verified the hazardous and nuisance aspects of the structure. The building will be demolished after proper notices are posted.

as George Crivello, 29, Judith Ann Funderburk, 23, and Jane Nelson, 21.

McKenzie, who claims to be from Vancouver, British Columbia, confessed to several burglaries in the Bay area, including Daly City, and that he was wanted for forgery and burglary in Canada.

Cardiac Victim Suffers Attack

An elderly Tracy man, visiting a Daly City friend, suffered an apparent heart attack last Friday morning. He is Edward Miller, 73. His companion, Edith Perot of 6280 Mission street, notified Daly City police of the attack at 12:30 a.m.

A Daly City Fire Department crew came to his assistance and the victim was subsequently driven to Junipero Serra Hospital for treatment. Miller, it was reported, has suffered from a cardiac condition.

Temple Baptist Will Present Christmas Oratorio

The church extends a cordial welcome to the public to attend this concert of sacred music.

ASSOCIATION AND DISPUTE

position as one of helping them and Westlake as a whole."

As an example, Appleton cited a conversation he had Monday with John Moore, 63 Westdale avenue, who, like Klein, recently was given 15-days notice to rectify "unauthorized" work on his front lawn.

"Mr. Moore, whose son did the work, said the family wasn't aware that such lawn alterations had to be cleared through the Association," Appleton explained. "We talked it over amiably and Mr. Moore assured me nothing further would be done unless it was approved by the Association."

Klein, interviewed and given extensive space by the three downtown dailies, disagreed with WSIA officials about the authority of the Association and the statements that all homeowners are familiar with the by-laws and the Association's role of seeing that they are conformed to.

"I think the Association would do itself a lot of good if they made an effort to inform second buyers about the restrictions, the assessments, and what it stands for. Just last week there was the way the balloting was conducted. I hardly think this speaks well of the authority and conduct of the Association."

Klein said he had received many calls from neighbors and other Westlake residents supporting his argument against Association interference.

"I don't think many of these people are satisfied with the Association, either," he said.

Schoolcraft, on the other hand, pointed out that the Association doesn't operate in a "punitive" manner.

"We are here for the benefit of Westlake homeowners—not to make life difficult for them. Westlake is what it is today because the majority of homeowners here know the value of the Association and will benefit by its effectiveness."

Appleton also reiterated the Association's "willing to talk things out" attitude.

"We find that most people who do things contrary to our by-laws are sensible enough to realize that the Association is working for their interest. Certainly, there are differences of opinion, but sometimes it takes a meeting of the minds to restore cooperation and harmony."

Meanwhile, on the specific Klein case, his deadline for making amends or starting to initiate amends is Christmas Day.

Asked if it were true he would fight any Association attempt to step in—as he was quoted in another newspaper—Klein responded:

"I think I have a good cause for dissatisfaction. At no time during the three months I worked on my front yard was I informed or told by anybody from the Association that I was doing something contrary to law. I think my position is legitimate considering the trouble I have experienced with my lawn. And my neighbors agree with me."

Klein added: "I'm as willing as the next guy to keep Westlake like it is, but I think have some rights, too."

Asked whether he is a paid-up member of the Association, his answer was "no." In fact, the union official, head of a membership of 2500 men, said he has never paid the Association's "mandatory" $7 per year assessment.

Schoolcraft declared that although several homeowners are delinquent in their assessments, "the majority are behind us and we have no major problems."

The WSIA chairman noted he did not know exactly how many of Westlake's 5500 homeowners are habitually delinquent in paying the assessments.

"The assessments are substantiated in the deeds and our by-laws," said Schoolcraft. "We have to abide by our laws to remain effective."

Girl Escapes Young Assailant

A 15-year-old Daly City girl, threatened with rape by a teen-aged intruder, ran and locked herself in the bathroom of her home Thursday. The youth broke into the house at 2 p.m., but the startled girl managed to escape his advances unharmed.

The boy had fled by the time Daly City police arrived to investigate. It was later learned that the boy, 17, a San Franciscan, was on probation from the San Francisco Juvenile Home, having commited robbery some time ago.

Colma K-6 Students Enjoy Imaginary Trip To Mexico

The children of Colma K-6 School were shown several methods of story telling recently, in commemoration of Book Week. Among these were poems, storytelling, ballads and folk songs, all presented by Mr. Muller of the Jefferson Elementary School District. The children enjoyed each of them but specially liked the old familiar folk songs which joined voices with Mr. Muller. Their favorites were "Blue Tail Fly" and "How the Camel Got His Hump."

Mrs. Culley's sixth grade class completed the program with a "Let's Pretend Trip to Mexico." The dialogue, costumes and scenery were created by the children, after much research on the various areas of Mexico.

Linda Caviglia and Philip Thuener were the "Americano visitors." They first visited a dry fishing village on the barren, northwestern coast. There they were greeted by Jeannot DeVolder, Beverly Alonzo, James Johnson, Robert Klippel, Lester Darby, Judy Koltis and Bill Brown. As they moved on to the northern desert edge area they were greeted by Joan Crowhurst and Kim Nobles who explained how they made butter and cheese of goats' milk. Carol Hobson, Diana Allen, and Elaine Guardino explained the use of the spindle and looms in making their clothes and blankets. The men of the family, Jack Streeter and Ronnie Tafoya showed them how to make cider and adobe bricks.

On the high plateau, in Mexico City, they learned that much of Mexico City is very modern but still much of the charm of Old Mexico remains. The guides were Lauriann Sarubbi, Cynthia Sweeney, Vickie Vollers, Mike Walters, Mike Maguire, Louise Molina, Esther Reyes and Evelyn Moran.

Going down to the hot, damp, tropical eastern coastlands, they watched John Costalupes, Shirley Michelletti, Edwin Montoya, Gordon Marshall, Dennis Fisicaro, Georgia Flint and Kenneth Lybrand work on a banana plantation. They helped harvest and wash the green bananas prior to shipment. They also visited a market place where they bought lovely pottery and ponchos. Between acts, Diana Allen did a Spanish dance and the whole class sang "Hot Tortillas" and the "Banana Loaders' Song." This culmination of their study of Mexico was appreciated by the entire student body.

Facts On Income Tax

You must file a federal income tax return for 1960 if you are under 65 and had gross income of $600 or more, or over 65 and had gross income of $1200 or more.

You must file a federal income tax return regardless of whether you owe tax or not, and it does not matter whether you are a man, woman or child; you are required to file a return before Monday, April 17, 1961.

It may be that you had income of less than $600 (or $1200) and income tax was withheld from your paychecks. In this case, you should file a tax return. It will show that you owe no tax and Uncle Sam will refund the withheld tax.

Also, if your income was from self-employment and was more than $400 you are required to file an income tax return and report and pay your self-employment tax even though you do not owe income tax.

Each taxpayer has individual circumstances and individual problems. If you have a specific problem you should consult the accountant of your choice as early as possible so that he will have plenty of time to prepare your tax return properly.

WEE Dolores Muller, daughter of John Muller (far left), a member of OLPH's St. Vincent DePaul Society committee, breaks the tape on the Mission street store near Wellington avenue where Christmas trees are being sold to raise funds for Daly City's Toys For Tots and food for the needy campaign. Looking on are Marine Recruiting Sgt. Ray Coleman and Fire Battalion Chief Wayne Alexander. All funds from these trees will go to the community drive to cheer underprivileged local children and adults. The store is near Hopman's TV-Radio establishment.

Toys For Tots Distribution Next Week

Several hundred Daly City-Colma youngsters will receive Christmas toys this year, thanks to volunteers in the U.S. Marine Corps' "Toys For Tots" drive. Peter Markovich, secretary-manager of the Chamber of Commerce and co-chairman of the drive, reports that as of last Friday the names of at least 239 children in 60 local families had been put on the list.

While citizens in the community, a number of them firemen, have contributed many of the toys, the Drive's sponsors have invested $785 in the purchase of gifts. These items, bought wholesale, will be distributed among children over five years old, as the public donations are more suitable for the one-to-five years bracket.

The toys will be delivered directly to the homes in trucks driven by and in most cases owned by volunteers. The date the various "Santas" will make their rounds has not been confirmed, but it will probably be on the 21st or 22nd of December.

Schoolcraft Retains WSIA Chairmanship

Emory Schoolcraft was re-elected president of the Westlake Improvement Association's 1961 board of directors Monday night. It will be his third term as leader of the organization.

Dr. Allan Unger, newcomer to the board who received the top vote in last week's election, is the new vice president. Bob Brachman retains his post as board secretary. Daryl Ober was named treasurer. McRobert Stewart is assistant secretary and William Morrisette is assistant treasurer. Leonard Brown will be the sergeant-at-arms.

Westlake Library, Lacking Furniture, Welcomes Public

The new Westlake branch of Daly City's library is operating on a full-scale basis now, but is handicapped by a sparseness of furniture."

"It has all been ordered, but the shippers seem to be slow in getting some of it to us," laments City Librarian Samuel Chandler. "At the present time there aren't enough chairs and tables for the many people who want to sit and read."

The airy, well-lit building, designed by John Gloe, architect, houses some 30,000 volumes, 10,000 of which are children's books. A special feature of the library is its free record-lending service. There is a conference room, designed for business meetings, story-hour sessions for children, and "Great Books" discussions.

No date has been set for dedication of the building, although the matter may be brought up at the Libary Commission meeting Wednesday night, December 14.

Funds For School Education Center Reapportioned

$650,000 in school bond funds will be reapportioned to cover the cost of not only the Jefferson Elementary School District's Education Center, but other District projects as well.

The School Board last June anticipated that the entire sum would be needed for construction of the new Center, but a surplus has developed. In a meeting last week the Board amended the original resolution to include the additional projects.

Among these will be six new classrooms and locker room facility additions for Benjamin Franklin Elementary School. Whatever funds are left may be applied to construction of the Margaret P. Brown and Christopher Columbus Schools, a new seventh and eight grade school, or purchase of land in Colma.

FIRE CHIEF SAYS

These Pointers On Fir Trees Will Keep Your Holiday Happy

Keep fire away from your fir tree:

That warning comes from the Chief Elmer Kennedy of the Daly City Fire Department as the city approaches the Christmas holidays.

The "Christmas tree, filled with natural pitch and resin, is one of the most combustible objects known," Chief Kennedy warned. "It can burn so quickly is it almost impossible to extinguish the flames by ordinary methods."

To help prevent Christmas tree fires, the following simple precautions were offered.

1. Buy a fresh tree. Be wary of trees sold as fire-proof.

2. Keep your tree in a cold place until you are ready to set it up.

3. Before setting up the tree, saw off diagonally at least an inch of the trunk, and place base in a water containing holder. Keep water reservoir filled.

4. Locate your tree well away from fire-places, radiators, television sets, powerful electric lights, and other sources of heat.

5. Never use candles. Use only electric lights and be sure these bear the underwriters laboratories label. Check wires for defects and loose sockets before putting them on the tree.

6. Too many light circuits on one outlet may overload the house wiring and blow a fuse. Reduce the load or connect part to an other outlet. never increase the size of the fuse, or substitute a penny for a blown fuse.

7. Turn off the tree lights when on one is to be in the room or at home for any lengthy period.

8. Do not operate electric trains or any other electrical toys which may spark under the tree.

9. Be sure the ends of metalic icicles or other hanging decorations do not dangle into light sockets where they can cause a short circuit or flash fire.

10. Move the Christmas tree lights at the tree's needles near them turn brown.

11. Dispose of old trees in fire-safe areas outdoors, not in furnaces, stoves, fireplaces, because Christmas trees burn with almost explosive violence.

Typical Cases Show Extreme Need For Christmas Bureau Donations

Throughout the nation San Mateo County is heralded as a "privileged" area. But beneath this reputation and known principally to welfare workers are the large number of needy families here, who, through sickness, financial disability, broken homes and other misfortunes, are obliged to depend on public generousity at Christmas time, under the auspices of the Community Christmas Bureau.

Now in its seventh year, with headquarters at the Naval Reserve Training Center, Baldwin avenue and San Mateo drive, San Mateo. The Christmas Bureau acting as a central clearing house for the receiving and distributing of the gifts, is still far from its goal of meeting specified wants of the needy families whose "cases" have been recorded by welfare workers. Appealing to the public to "speed up" its giving. Cash, and merchandise orders are in great demand. They may be sent to the Bureau % Box 109, San Mateo, California.

All groups and organizations may centralize their gifts to the needy by first conferring with the Christmas Bureau at DIamond 4-0063 or DIamond 4-0064. In this way duplication will be avoided and widespread and efficient giving insured. One of the open-hearted citizens of the county who has heeded the call of the Bureau, she pointed out, is D. W. Metz, operating a Christmas tree lot at 1648 El Camino Real, San Carlos, and who is donating to the Community Christmas campaign a percentage of each tree sold on his premises.

New Cases in the files of the Bureau are:

NO. 109: Mrs. J., though in poor health, works as a household domestic, but does not earn enough to purchase clothing for her teen-age daughter and to supply herself with necessities. Cash could brighten their Christmas or merchandise orders for shoes and clothing.

CASE NO. 110: Serious illness dominates the life of this family, the father, physically incapacitated, the mother, arthritic, and the three children all at one time under the attention of the Crippled Children's program. Merchandise orders or cash to buy them necessary clothing are their specified needs. The father is also anxious to obtain money to acquire a license to sell "used" household items.

NO. 107: This elderly, ill couple are in desperate need of clothing. Estranged from their children, they have no one but kindly "outsiders" to come to their rescue. The wife, almost totally invalided by arthritis, is ineligible for help from welfare agencies, and medical expenses have drained the family's resources. They would be grateful for merchandise orders and cash.

NO. 5669: This mother with two young children is compelled to live in a home without heating facilities. She has requested bedding for one double bed and for one single bed.

NO. 4897: There are three children in this family, two boys, ages 11 and 8 years; a girl, 10. The eight-year old boy is so badly in need of a jacket he must wear several "T" shirts to school in order to keep warm. The other youngsters are also in desperate need of clothing.

NO. 11: This family, consisting of the mother and father and six children, ranging in ages from 6 to 18 years, have suffered setbacks from serious illness. Orders for shoes and for Christmas dinner are their specified needs.

NO. 112: A father, crippled by arthritis, cannot meet the needs of his three children, two girls and a boy. The girls have no coats for school, the boy needs a jacket. All are without apparel for rainy weather. Cash and orders for clothing are requested here or children's apparel in good condition for the girls, size 8, and for the boy, size 7.

Rotarians To Lead 'Senior Citizens' Tour

The Senior Citizens of Westlake will be treated to a special Christmas tour next Wednesday evening, December 21, at 7:15 p.m.

Members of the Daly City Rotary Club will meet at Westlake Community Baptist Church, corner of Southgate and Elmwood in Westlake, and drive the seniors around Daly City and San Francisco to see the displays of Christmas lights.

Since it is important for those in charge of the affair to know how many cars will be needed, it is requested that those in the "over 50" group waiting to go should call the church office, PLaza 6-5400, and leave a message or phone Alyce Madsen at PLaza 5-2630.

This Christmas Lights tour will take the place of the regular daytime meeting.

Christmas Vacation For Local Schools

Daly City-Colma school youngsters begin two weeks of Christmas vacation next Monday. Classes resume on Tuesday, January 3. Monday, January 2, is a holiday because New Year's Day falls on a Sunday.

DC Midshipman Bob Grubb Sets Three Lectures

Midshipman First Class Robert George Grubb, son of Mr. and Mrs. Williard J. Grubb of 468 San Diego avenue, Daly City, will take part in the U. S. Naval Academy's "Operation Information" program while on Christmas leave with his family December 17 - January 5.

"Operation Information" is a program in which selected midshipmen on Christmas leave speak at high schools, civic clubs, on radio and TV to present an idea of the life at the Naval Academy.

Grubb, former Jefferson High football star, will have the following engagements: Kiwanis Club of the Mission, San Francisco, Kiwanis of San Jose, and the Fraternal Order of Eagles, Daly City-Colma.

After graduating from Jefferson High, Grubb attended the Naval Academy Preparatory School, Bainbridge, Maryland, for one year. Last year he was the Second Class Company Commander at the Academy and this year he is the 5th Battalion Commander.

Suggestions To Keep Your Holiday Safe

How many persons will die in fires during the Christmas holiday?

"Not a one, necessarily," says the San Francisco Chapter, National Safety Council. "The grim picture of frequent fires at Christmas does not need to be—not if people take a few precautions."

The Council cites these facts about fires:

1—In the U.S. more than 1000 persons died during December last year—37 of them in San Francisco—a month when most fire deaths occurred.

2—Chief victims are the very young—children under 5—and persons 75 years of age or more.

3—In recent years, more than half a million homes have been struck by fire.

To keep yourself and your loved ones from becoming fire victims, the Safety Council makes these life-saving suggestions:

* Don't let gift wrappings accumulate so they become a fire hazard.

* Don't smoke in bed. And at holiday get-togethers, use deep ash trays that will hold burning cigarettes securely.

* Check your Christmas tree wiring for possible shorts. Better to buy a new string of lights than to risk having tragedy visit your home.

* Don't leave the Christmas tree lights burning if you're away from home or out of the room for long.

* Don't put your tree up too early. And don't leave it up so long it gets dried out. Keep it moist.

* Metallic Christmas trees are fine—if you use the floor floodlights most manufacturers recommend. Don't risk a death-dealing short by putting a string of lights on a metallic tree.

Governor Appoints Westlake Resident To Barber Board

James D. Knauss, 36-year-old Westlake resident at 8 Crestview avenue, has been appointed by Governor Pat Brown to the California Board of Barber Examiners.

A resident of Daly City the past four years, Knauss has served as a state investigator of professional and vocational standards in barbering, working in the San Francisco area.

He and his wife, Mary, are the parents of Mary, 13, James Jr., 12, and Kevin, 4. The family originally lived in Stockton.

Daly City Marine Completes Training

Marine Pvt. Alexander E. Buick, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Buick of 190 Lincoln avenue, Daly City, completed four weeks of individual combat training November 25 at the Marine Corps Base, Camp Pendleton, California.

The course included the latest infantry tactics, first aid, demolitions, field fortifications and advanced schooling on weapons.

Trainees learn that all Marines are basically infantrymen, weather they serve as cooks, typists, truck drivers, or with aviation units.

The United States Marine Band, the oldest military band in the country, played its first official concert on March 4, 1801 at the inauguration of President Thomas Jefferson.

Thirteen scheduled airlines utilize the San Francisco International Airport, providing service to all parts of the world.

Committee Needs Old Photographs On Daly City's Growth

Got any old pictures of Daly City in bygone days?

If you have, why not loan them to Daly City's 50th anniversary celebration committee for display in the week-long event next October?

Fire Chief Elmer Kennedy and Colma tavern owner Lance Molloy are chairmen of the "Old Time Pictures" committee. Send your picures—any landscape, group and significant photographs taken between 1911 and the present—to "Old Time Pictures Committee, City Hall, 75 Wellington avenue, Daly City."

The pictures will be returned in good condition after they are used in the celebration display.

Slogan for the 50th municipal year is "Daly City—A Century of Progress in Half The Time."

AROUND TOWN

By ROY HURLBERT

LAST week's Daly City Rotary Club speaker was Dr. Edgar Nolan, chief of staff for Mary's Help Hospital of San Francisco.

He said relocation of the hospital to Daly City is an investment of $10 million, some of which will have to be raised by public donations.

The nuns have about $1 million for the project, plus funds that will come from the sale of the present hospital on Guerrero street near Market.

Nolan pointed out that difficulty in getting clear title to the 7½-acre site on Daly City's eastern plateau—off Brunswick street—has led to investigation of other suitable sites in the north county area.

A Northern San Mateo County Hospital District will be established in the Mary's Help project to serve Daly City-Colma, South SF and Pacifica. Creation of this new hospital district will give the north county more priority for federal funds to help underwrite the 150-bed facility.

Nolan told Rotarians that Mary's Help officials intend to locate a definite site and begin construction within the next two years. The hospital could be ready for patients in about four years. A multi-storied structure on paper, it can be expanded to 350 beds.

YOUNGEST Daly City Lion of them all, Eddie Dennis Jr., son of the city councilman, really has the "duty."

Stationed with the Army in Orleans, France, Eddie recently was assigned to Paris to attend a clinic for medical corps personnel.

This is what you call business and pleasure for the 22-year-old Jeff High graduate.

Christmas in Paris shouldn't be hard to take.

SCORE another one for Daly City's thriving auto row.

Last week the San Francisco police department purchased 64 vehicles from DC's Neville Ford company.

The SF auto dealers are still grumbling about the award to the "outside" firm.

That's what competitive bidding does for you.

DOWN in Pacifica, by 3-2 vote, the city council okayed a motion to allow the serving of alcoholic beverages at City Hall functions.

This doesn't mean you can get Scotch over the rocks whilst attending a council meeting. It allows adult groups using City Hall to serve potency beverages during these social activities.

IF MASSIVE Callan Park is annexed to any city, it probably will be South San Francisco. Pacifica has too many problems to make such a sizeable addition.

South San Francisco officials don't appear too anxious to inherit the Callan tract, however, although it would be a natural geographic move.

BIDS WILL be advertised early in 1961 for the new municipal court building in South San Francisco. Judge Charles Becker and his vigorous staff have been crowded long enough. Business is good and they need more room to operate.

THERE are still two vacancies to be filled on Daly City's library commission. The council has held off these appointments for several months. Meanwhile, down among the bookstacks, Commissioners Lionel Farber, Maude Hanselman and Sarah Kelechava are holding down the fort.

Of all the city commissions, the library board is the most non-explosive. These folks are champions of culture—not politics.

EMORY Schoolcraft and Hartley Appleton, central figures in the tempest-over-a-teapot Westlake dispute involving an uprooted front lawn, have one stock answer in explaining the Association's methods of enforcing conformity.

They say the Association's seven directors must uphold the by-laws of the chartered corporation.

In other words, what's the use of having by-laws if they aren't followed to the letter?

Dissidents counter with the view that if a majority of people challenge the by-laws, why aren't these by-laws changed by the present board?

The question remains—who constitutes the majority?

MANY residents apparently are unaware the twice monthly study sessions of the Daly City Council are open to the general public.

The Thursday evening study sessions invariably bring some interesting discussions and background material on certain projects that aren't explained as much in the regular council meetings.

POLICE Officer Al Nicolini captured a "kinkajou" last week.

The little fellow (not Nicolini) got away from its San Francisco owner and somehow turned up on Mission street here.

A kinkajou (we looked it up in Webster's) is a South American carnivorous mammal which lives in trees and likes chewing gum.

Al took the furry creature home with him, then gladly turned it over to its keeper.

Anything is likely to happen during the daily routine of a cop. Babies, robberies, apologizing ladies who honestly didn't know they were speeding, et cetera.

But seldom a kinkajou kaper.

CITY TREASURER'S SON

Charles J. Lewkowitz, Nurse Martha Ensor To Wed At O.L.P.H.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Lewkowitz, 501 Vista Grande avenue, Daly City, announce the engagement of their son, Charles James Lewkowitz, to Martha Romaine Ensor, formerly of Glen Rock, Pennsylvania, and now residing at 2695 Greenwich street, San Francisco.

MARTHA ENSOR

Martha graduated from Susquehannock High School in 1956, and then graduated from the Philadelphia General Hospital School of Nursing in 1959. She is presently working as a general staff nurse at Children's Hospital in San Francisco.

Charles, better known to his friends as "Bud" or "Red," graduated from Jefferson High School in 1956. He served two years in the United States Navy. He is the son of the city treasurer of Daly City, and is presently employed by his father, at the Daly City Super Service Station.

The young couple have set January 19 as their wedding date, to take place at Our Lady of Perpetual Help Catholic Church in Daly City.

Field Trips Stimulate Colma Pupils

Mrs. Cody's fifth grade at Colma K-6 School attended an interesting program at the Planetarium in Golden Gate Park. Stress was placed on the subjects of time and tide.

The tremendous effect of the pull of the moon on the earth which causes the high and ebb tides, were vividly portrayed. The children were shown the phases of the moon and exactly what causes them.

As a quick side trip the class saw the two new additions to the DeYoung Museum, and also a terra cotta bust of Benjamin Franklin and a marble bust of Voltaire. Fortunately, the exhibit of oil paintings by Japanese children was still on display. The class found them excitingly different from their own work in art.

Mrs. Nelson's second and third graders scheduled a trip to Oakland Museum to see a Hopi Indian display and a Hopi Indian.

Albert Bertini, Sandy Neuer, Ray Acosta, Albert Luzzi, Marilyn Eversole and Nancy Dutton were most interested in the two Hopi songs that Claud Saskavaya, the Hopi Indian, sang for them. After the Indian songs, Ronnie Sanchez, Lynda Thimis, Doris Dentone, Paula Penrose, Kenny Back, David Davi and Debra Oyola were fascinated by the Kachina Doll carving.

The director of the museum explained about other kinds of Indians and this proved to be especially interesting to the class. He showed Indian baskets to Mark Moreno, Bonnie Grant, George Javier, Earl Tallor, Richard Cardero, Janet Noya and Joan Tomasello.

The class was accompanied by Mrs. Judi Cassidy, a student teacher from San Francisco State College, and by Mrs. S. Bianchi and Mrs. B. Davi, room mothers for Mrs. Nelson's class.

Civic Club Tells Christmas Project

Recent meeting of the Women's Civic Club of Daly City was held at the home of Marie Pool on Bellevue avenue. The hostess served luncheon. Plans were made to make Christmas treats for hospital patients. Games followed the regular business meeting.

FIVE members of Benjamin Franklin Intermediate School's Pan-American Expedition Study Group review a may of Canada in anticipation to their 7725-mile trip through North and Central America next summer. Standing, left to right, Robert L. Daugherty, Eldon E. Rowe and Frank Ramirez. Seated are Carl E. Hunter and Paris B. Simmons. The teachers will travel by motor-scooter.

Ex-Missionary To Belgian Congo Guest Speaker At Pacifica Church

The Rev. Arley R. Brown, American Baptist missionary to the Congo, will speak December 18 at the 11 a.m. worship service of The First Baptist Church, 610 Edgemar avenue, Pacifica, on the situation in that strife-torn African country.

Brown and his family returned to America in mid-July along with most other American Baptist missionaries because of the trouble that beset the Congo after it gained indepedence from Belgium on June 30.

The Browns were in their second term of service in the Congo and were serving at Boko, a new and fairly isolated station.

The son of Congo missionaries, Brown also has a brother, Wesley, serving on that field. Mr. and Mrs. Brown were appointed as missionaries in early 1952. They spent a year in Belgium and began their Congo service in 1953. They served first at the capital city of Leopoldville and then at Kikongo. Brown has helped supervise evangelism and mission schools in the area surrounding the mission station.

In addition to about a dozen American Baptist missionaries, who either stayed in the Congo at the time of the evacuation or have since returned, a number are expected to return soon after January 1, 1961. Whether or not families will return then will depend on the outlook for stability in the country.

Brown is a graduate of Pasadena College, from which he holds an A.B. degree, and of Berkeley Baptist Divinity School, Berkeley, from which he holds a B.D. degree. He and Mrs. Brown have three children, Miriam Faith, eight, Evelyn Ann, five, and Rita Joy, three.

The public is invited to attend the service which will also feature choral selections by the Senior Choir of the church under the direction of Kenneth Au Young.

Salvation Army Donations Aid The Imprisoned

The Salvation Army, which visits the imprisoned at Christmas and also provides aid for their families, began its work in this country on behalf of the imprisoned in Hartford, Connecticut, in 1885. Since that time The Salvation Army Correctional Service Department has grown until it is almost impossible to record the individual services rendered.

In California, for instance, approximately 10,000 prisoners are visited by The Salvation Army each year. At Christmastime, The Salvation Army accelerates its activities among the incarcerated. Christmas gifts are distributed along with candy and magazines, Special Christmas services are held whenever possible.

The interest the prisoner shows in his family is intensified during the Christmas season. Many requests, for family assistance from the prisoner, cross the desk of The Salvation Army Correctional officer. Such requests are forwarded to local Salvation Army service units in your community and aid is given, when needed, to the families of the incarcerated.

A portion of the money donated to The Salvation Army through its Christmas appeal is used to finance this program at Christmastime.

Christmas gifts may be mailed to The Salvation Army Treasurer, Louis Pisani, Manager of Bank of America, 6298-A Mission street, Daly City.

County At 50% Of Goal In Sale Of Xmas Seals

The Christmas Seal campaign in San Mateo County has reached half of its $100,000 goal, according to chairman Louis F. Colagiovanni. As of last Friday, contributions totaling $50,209.59 had been received by the San Mateo County Tuberculosis and Health Association.

"I wish I could say that I am overjoyed," Colagiovanni said, "but that would be exaggerating. Frankly, I wish more people would realize the urgency of this continuing fight against tuberculosis and send in their contributions as soon as possible. Don't forget that TB still srikes every 7 minutes and kills every 50 minutes in the United States alone, where it is relatively under control."

Colagiovanni pointed out that the campaign will not close officially until March 31.

St. Francis Heights Awaits Santa's Visit

Santa Claus is slated to make the rounds of St. Francis Heights this Saturday (December 17) between 2 and 4 p.m. for purpose of distributing "a cargo of candy" to area youngsters.

Thomas F. Noonan, president of St. Francis Heights Improvement Association, said St. Nick will make short rendezvous at street intersections during the two-hour period. The visitor from the North Pole will greet the kiddies and present traditional striped candy canes free to children as long as the cargo lasts. His Whiskered Highness will pass out the canes as a Yuletide gesture of goodwill from the Association.

Another community event under the auspices of the St. Francis Heights Improvement Association is their annual Outdoor Christmas Decorating Contest which has aroused the competitive and creative spirit of the big subdivision. Judging is scheduled for Christmas Week—Monday, December 19 to Saturday, December 24.

Noonan said the Outdoor Contest committee composed of Sanford Heisler, Mrs. Robert Wilson, and Mrs. Stephen Goin were successful in enlisting the aid of three members of the Society of Western Artists to conduct the judging.

There are seven major categories in the Outdoor Contest. These are (1) Best All Around Effect, (2) Second Best All-Around Effect, and (3) Third Best All-Around Effect. Fourth prize goes to the Most Original Display, (5) Best Traditional Motif, (6) Best Religious Theme, and (7) Best Lighting Arrangement. In addition, prizes have been earmarked for the next ten given Honorable Mention.

First prize winner will be given the choice of one of several electric kitchen appliances. Useful electric and household appliances have been set aside for the other six winners with suitable awards going to the Honorable Mention winners, Noonan said.

Steven Kableciek, Michael Diakas, Lee Trobock, Tommy Van Horn and Mark Gleason were inducted into the Pack, and Gary Watts transfered into Pack 343 from another den.

Plans are being made for a Christmas party for the Cubs on December 19, under the direction of the Mesdames Boerio, Salsgiver, Van Horn, and Boysen.

The Cubs took an exiting tour through the News-Call Bulletin newspaper building on November 26, and on December 10 were taken to see the spectacular movie, Ben Hur.

Daly City Players Display Confidence, Enthusiasm, But...

By D. R. Murchie

If the main purpose of a stage production is to entertain, the Daly City Players achieved theirs last weekend. A tiny audience chuckled and hip-slapped their way through two hours of rustic humor and frivolity as the amateur group gave their interpretation of Noel Coward's "Hay Fever" in the War Memorial Community Center Friday and Saturday nights.

While admittedly of non-professional calibre—and this was often painfully evident — the cast nevertheless held the attention of all present, including a happy representation of the sub-teen set.

The Players are to be commended for their enthusiasm, apparent self-confidence and successful memorization of all lines. Unfortunately, however, too many of the lines came out sounding as if they had been memorized.

Among the weaknesses of the production was an absence of vocal variety on the part of some of the Players, and misleading vocal inflections, on the part of most everyone. The result was a confustion of mixed emotions: words expressing mild surprise were spoken in tones suggesting paralytic shock, and blind rage came out as controlled impatience.

Another sore point seemed to be improper timing between lines. Often-times a player would respond too soon to a line which suggested lengthy reflection. There were near cases of overlapping.

These weaknesses are probably the result of inexperience rather than a misunderstanding of the parts, and will be corrected in time.

Paul Guaraglia, playing the part of David Bliss, husband and host to a number of unexpected guests, came up with the most convincing character portrayal. Guaraglia, gifted with a deep and resonant voice, seemed properly flustered, and bounded hugely about the stage like a startled Great Dane. His moments of agitation were appropriately tempered at key points by a Nineteenth Century ecclesiastical reserve.

Jan Jansen, as Jackie Coryton, demonstrated an effective range of emotions and proved to have generally good stage presence.

Danya Rookard as the nostalgic once-renowned actress, Judith Bliss, played a vigorous role, but pitched herself so high at the outset that she had little vocal range left for climaxes later in the play.

Daly City Players are to be encouraged in their efforts, and there is no reason to assume that, with good direction, their next production won't show a vast improvement over "Hay Fever. However, it might be best that they stick with comedy for awhile.

Changes In SS Law Help Children

From time to time, you have probably read or heard about the major changes made in the Social Security Act by the 1960 amendments. For instance, disability insurance benefits may now be paid to workers under 50; less work is needed to qualify for old-age and survivors benefits; and retired persons may now have less benefits withheld because of part-time work.

Several changes in the law affect a limited number of people. For instance, under the old law, a child could not receive benefits on his deceased father's account if his father had not been contributing to his support, and his step-father had. Under the new law, a child may receive benefits on his deceased father's account regardless of whether he was being supported by him. Of course, as before, the father must have had sufficient credit for work under social security to be insured.

The new law also changes the way a child's benefit payments are figured. Before, each child received one-half of what his father received. Another one-fourth of what the father would have received was divided equally among all the children eligible on his account. Now, all children will be entitled to three-fourths of what their father would have received. Many children's benefits will be higher when they receive their next checks as a result of the change. Others will continue to receive the same amount because the family maximum is already being paid. The family maximum is the most that can be paid on a person's account, regardless of the number of people eligible.

For further information regarding the changes in Social Security by these recent amendments, get in touch with your social security office. Residents of Daly City, Colma, and Pacifica, are served by the office at 761 South Van Ness avenue, San Francisco.

'Curiosity And Humility' Make The 'Intellectual'

"The intellectual cannot live by the mind alone; he needs the warm corrective of the human community." This was the conclusion of Claude T. Bissell, president of the University of Toronto and one of Canada's leading educational administrators.

Bissell, lecturing on the campus of the University of California, Santa Barbara, described the need for a combination of two basic qualities in the "intellectual"—a kind of curiosity that arises from depth of understanding and knowledge" tempered with "humility and a sense of personal relations." These qualities, the university administrator held, "can only be developed in a society where there is an easy give-and-take between individuals, where social equality goes along with a frank recognition of intellectual differences, where the educational process is continuing both within and outside the laboratory and the classroom."

This type of educational society can no longer be supported by the large unitary university, Bissell said. "The solution lies, not in the creation of more and more small centers of higher learning, but in the re-creation of the large universities in terms of small units, where teaching, research, and good talk and debate can be united in a human setting."

Following the program, refreshments will be served and teachers will be on hand to talk and visit with the parents. Hostesses for the evening are Mrs. C. W. Fox and Mrs. Bonnie Brandi. Children will also receive special Christmas gifts from the Sunday School.

With the heavy fall enrollment and new children registering every Sunday, Westlake Lutheran's Sunday School last month invaded neighborhood garages in an effort to alleviate congestion in the church facilities. The 4th and 5th grades, are now housed in garages donated by Mr. and Mrs. Glen Kading, 217 Avalon, and Mrs. and Mrs. Joseph Callas, 241 Avalon.

The Sunday School is open to any child 3 years and up. The Board of Education is completing plans for a greatly expanded adult program the first of the year. It is also hoped that a mid-week morning Bible study group for mothers will commence shortly after the first of the year, with baby-sitting provided.

A trained and experienced staff of 25 persons is on hand each Sunday morning at 9:45 a.m. to instruct the children. Children may be enrolled any Sunday morning or by calling the Director of Parish Education, Mrs. Curtis E. Rehn, PL 6-6640.

NOW teaching English at Jefferson High School, Kenneth Brown was once a member of an archeological expedition group which went into southern Arabia in 1949-50 to docate the buried city of Timna. Movies of the expedition were shown over TV Channel KPIX recently. The group, well-armed, dodged snipers during border disputes and downed gazelles for food. The expedition was led by Dr. Wendell Philips of Concord, Calif.

Jeff Teacher Was On Arabian Expedition

An Arabian archeological expedition, in which one of Jefferson High School's English teachers participated was the subject of a film shown recently on television channel KPIX.

The teacher, Kenneth Brown, was one of the pilots of the expedition, which went into southern Arabia in 1949 and 1950 to find the buried city of Timna. The city, mentioned in the Old Testament, was actually found and unearthed and two other cities belonging to the same civilization were discovered in the process of excavation. Members of the expedition learned that all had been sacked and completely destroyed as the result of trade rivalries sometime around 50 B.C. Thereafter, drifting sands slowly covered the remains.

Brown's work on this expedition was done under the supervision of Dr. William F. Albright of Johns Hopkins University. Dr. Albright is recognized as the world's foremost Biblical archeologist. He is now director of the American School of Oriental Research in Jerusalem.

Brown is a graduate of the University of California and has been employed by the American Foundation for the Study of Man, Washington, D.C. During the past five years he has taught English at Jefferson High School.

Xmas Pageant Sunday At Seacliff Church

Daly City's Seacliff Community Church (Evangelical United Brethren) will present its annual Christmas program this Sunday, December 18, at 6 p.m. The early evening presentation will take the form of a pageant, entitled "A Song In Your Heart."

Pastor Clark Robb, pageant director, reported it will be presented by "the whole church," enlisting the talents of the choir, as well as children, youth, and adults. The choir will be directed by Mrs. George Simcox, with Mrs. William Oswood in charge of a tableaux of the Nativity by the Junior Department, and Mrs. D. L. Dilbeck in charge of carolers from the Primary-Kindergarten Department.

With a setting in a family observance of Christmas, the principal roles include Douglas Gamblin as father, Gill Carson as mother, Barbara Disque as the daughter, and Peter Deacon as the son. The pageant unfolds as this family reads the Christmas story during their family worship around the fireplace.

Pastor Robb believes the program will be noted for variety, brevity, and human interest, so that it will appeal to all ages. The public is invited to attend. The church is located at 50 Northridge drive.

Second Church Of Religious Science Christmas Service

On Sunday, December 18, at 11 a.m., Second Church of Religious Science will conduct a special Christmas service, with baptism and the reception of new members into church fellowship. There will be special music by the Junior Choir and soloist Jewelle Anderson, with Margaret Vaughan at the organ.

Following the church service there will be an hour of fellowship and refreshments, with Santa Claus and his gift pack in attendance. The public is invited to come and bring the children for this special occasion.

Second Church also sponsors a radio program over station KRE, Dial 1400, at 8:30 a.m. every Saturday morning. Warwick L. McElvaney, associate minister, conducts the program, called "Getting the Most Out of Life," which is a practical discussion of every day problems that concern everyone.

Sunday services and other activities of Second Church are held in Claremont Chapel, 280 Claremont boulevard at Ulloa street in the West Portal district, and may be conveniently reached by K and L cars or M bus. The church extends a cordial welcome to all.

UNION SQUARE

Kipstars Workshop Will Present Children's Xmas Party In S.F.

A Children's Christmas Party, sponsored by the Down Town Association of San Francisco, will be presented by the Kipstars Workshop, on Monday, December 19, at noon in Union Square with Ed Hennessy as master of ceremonies.

In addition to the eight attractively illuminated Yew Trees, poinsettia plants have been placed at the base of the trees, to carry out the spectacular Christmas decoration for Union Square, which is the background for San Francisco's annual Christmas festival.

'Tacki' the clown will be there at 11 a.m. to welcome the children and will make animals and birds from toy balloons which he will give the youngsters attending the festivities and after the show will present them with lollipops from his lollipop tree.

KIP (Kids in Performance) was formed in 1957 when Mrs. Kay Irvine, now of South San Francisco, volunteered to tell stories on the Daly City playgrounds. Then she organized her first talent show with a cast of eight young performers recruited from the playgrounds.

With the slogan, "Peace begins on our block," the organization was formed to attract youth of evry background and many races to meet a fundamental need, which Mrs. Irvine defines as "the need to belong, to achieve, and most important, to know that somebody cares."

Mrs. Irvine calls KIP, "a showcase of talent" and the singers, dancers, musicians of Kids in Performance have given shows at Letterman General Hospital Recreation Hall, the Red Cross, Log Cabin Ranch School and at military bases, orphanages and homes for the aged since it started three years ago.

The fifteenth annual Christmas program will climax on Friday, December 23, 5:30 to 6 p.m. with Carole Larsen, Bay Area's versatile international opera star, carrying on the tradition originated by the beloved Luisa Tetrazzini in 1910, and revived in 1946 by the Down Town Association. This program will be broadcast nationally over the CBS radio network and aired locally over KCBS.

Miss Larsen will be accompanied by Albert White and the KCBS Concert Orchestra which will also be heard in individual orchestral numbers. Another feature will consist of a Christmas Choir under the direction of Stanley Noonan with a number of special selections of Christmas music.

The theme will be a message of "Peace on Earth and Good Will to all Men," with San Francisco's heartiest Christmas greetings extended to the nation by Mayor George Christopher and L. Harold Anderson, president of the Down Town Association.

F. P. Riddle, your Telephone Manager in San Francisco

Telephone people have an important part in America's effort to send man into outer space. Western Electric, the manufacturing branch of the Bell Telephone System, heads a group of companies building a world-wide network of tracking stations.

The stations will track the capsule and send command signals to it. They will also receive signals reporting the spaceman's physical condition and provide direct communication between him and his earthbound colleagues.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration sponsors the project.

Meeting emergencies is a familiar story to telephone people. For when storms, fire or flood strike, phone lines often become lifelines. Reserve power supplies are one of the ways we keep ready for emergencies.

These generators run by gasoline or diesel engines are on stand-by in telephone central offices. If they are needed, they can be started up to feed electricity into the batteries that furnish power for your phone calls. So, good weather or bad your telephone is a service you can count on.

On behalf of all of us here at the telephone company, I want to wish you the happiest of Holiday Seasons. We hope the New Year holds many good things for you. A retiring offering will be accepted to be applied on payment of the new choir robes purchased for the occasion. Westlake Community Baptist Church is located at Southgate and Elmwood in Daly City and the pastor is Lynn Hodges. "A cordial invitation is extended to all who would like to appreciate this delightful evening of Christmas music," said

Friends Of Library Schedule 'Children's Hour' Here Dec. 20

The Friends of the Library held their monthly board meeting for the first time in Daly City's new library last Thursday. In the absence of president Mrs. Thomas E. Brewer, Mrs. Howard Stites, parliamentarian, presided and reported on the highly successful Book Review held that morning at Westlake Bowl. Featuring Mrs. Marion Rowe of the KPIX Adventure School this Book Review had one of the heaviest attendances yet, reported Mrs. Stites.

Sam Chandler, city librarian, spoke enthusiastically of the program planned for the Children's Hour to be held Tuesday, December 20, between 3 and 4 at the new library. He said that Standard Oil Company is providing two short films which will be of interest to the elementary grades, sixth and under, for whom this party is being planned. One will feature San Francisco seen through the eyes of Emperor Norton, beloved old-time character, and the other, entitled "Destination Earth," reflects the current interest in space travel.

Mrs. Stites appointed the Mmes. Julian Cohn, U. R. Kendree, Frank Kelechava and Samuel Stein to assist her in Friends of the Library's share toward making this a festive occasion. It was voted that the Friends would give each child a small Christmas favor of the edible variety.

Several committees were appointed to work out the details for the general meeting, scheduled for Tuesday evening, January 17, which will feature noted author Mark Harris in an informal question-and-answer session which will allow the audience to become better acquainted with the San Francisco State professor whose books are on the best-seller lists.

Metal Christmas Trees Potential Hazards, Warn Fire Authorities

The newly popular metal Christmas trees are adding a new holiday hazard to the home.

This warning is being voiced by fire prevention experts throughout the Bay Area this season, along with cautions against more familiar fire hazards and an occasional nostalgic plug for the "good old fashioned green Christmas tree."

At the same time, fire chiefs are urging people in their communities to study a December Reader's Digest article, written tempt to remove burning food or grease from the oven or from the top of the stove. Use the baking soda or place a cover on the pan or skillet."

In adidtion to his own special advice to householders, Hayward's Chief Jiminez stressed that "the article by Paul W. Kearney, which appeared in the Reader's Digest, should be in the hands of every householder in the city of Hayward."

Kearney himself, in his article, echoes the adage all firemen are agreed upon:
by a noted fire prevention expert, which calls attention to the fact that there are more combustibles than ever in the modern home.

The article, "New Ways to Make Your Home Fire-Safe," by Paul W. Kearney, points especially to certain plastics, plywoods, and veneers as highly combustible and notes that a fire doesn't have to destroy your home to kill you — the fumes alone can do it.

Kearney's warnings "reflect the feelings of the average fire official exactly," said Fire Chief E. P. Herman of El Cerrito, who labeled the article as one of "tremendous value to the homeowner or to all those who value the safety of their loved ones."

The attitude of firemen toward the new metal Christmas trees, usually made of aluminum, is typified in the holiday season advice given by Battalion Chief Warren Aspinall of Alameda.

"Aluminum Christmas trees which are so popular now are not to be strung with electric lights," he said. "If wiring shorts, the tree could become a death trap. For beauty and safety, put a spotlight on such a tree."

Fire Chief Matthew Jiminez of Hayward concedes that the metal trees are "safer than untreated, natural trees, if they are handled correctly." But he, too, favors use of a spotlight, pointing out that if a short should occur from electric lights strung on the tree, "fire and shock from conductivity would result."

"Metal trees can be properly grounded," Jiminez said, "but this should be done only by a qualified electrician."

Here are some other comments from Bay Area communities:

Capt. Ernest J. Ahlborn, Berkeley: "Do not use electric lights on metal trees and do not handle or reach for any metal decorations while arranging the lights elsewhere."

Fire Marshal Herbert W. Nelson, Palo Alto: "The new type of metal aluminum Christmas tree should never be lighted with electric lights. Christmas tree lights were never designed for this type of tree."

Fire Chief Herman of El Cerrito: "I would especially like to caution people against using the standard Christmas tree light strings on a metallic Christmas tree. The tree, being metal, acts as a conductor of electricity and will cause the lights to short-circuit, thus causing fire or possible serious injury or death."

Captain Richard McSheehy, Fire Prevention Bureau, Albany, also cautions care in the use of metallic trees and adds this nostalgic note:

"Young people like the aluminum trees on the market now. I can think of no argument strong enough to defeat the purchase of one (I am thinking of my own family), but they are just not old-fashioned Christmas to me."

In addition to their warnings on use of metal trees, fire officials generally were agreed on these precautions:

Don't let Christmas lights burn all night or when you are away from the house.

Exercise special care with candles, which should not be placed near the tree or other combustible surface.

Don't let paper or cotton pile up after presents are opened, but don't jam it all at once into the fireplace either.

Use only UL (Underwriters Laboratory) labeled electric cords and lights, and be sure the label is on all electrical toys.

If you buy a green tree, make sure it is fresh; cut off the stump diagonally and place it in water to preserve the freshness.

Chief Albert E. Hayes of San Francisco's Division of Fire Prevention and Investigation suggested that each family "make a fire safety survey of your home before retiring, with particular attention to careless disposal of burning cigarettes."

Chief Hayes warned also against pyroxylin plastic dolls or toys and non-flameproofed cowboy suits. "Toys operated by alcohol, kerosene or gasoline are especially dangerous," he said. "They may upset and set fire to children's clothing, the tree or to the house itself."

Fire Marshal A. M. Buys of Richmond added a special bit of advice to housewives.

"Before preparing the turkey, take a peek at the oven and clean out any possible accumulation of grease. If a grease fire should occur, however, scatter a handful of baking soda on the fire. . . . Never, but never, announced.

Dennis R. Cronin, vice chairman of the Council, urged all members of the group to visit the District's Plume Evaluation Training Unit—"Smoke School"—at its present site, Buchanan Field, near Concord.

The District staff's "Smoke School" qualifications, which closely parallel Los Angeles APCD standards, will be announced shortly, according to Control Officer Benjamin Linsky.

McCormick discussed the desirability of commending those industries who have cooperated with the District in curbing the air pollution menace. Linsky pointed out that this procedure is being followed whenever possible, although some cooperators preferred not to be publicized.

"The first five minutes are worth the next five hours at any blaze. This is an axiom we all should take to heart in a land where 1500 homes a day are destroyed by fire!"

Charles Martin Hall of Oberlin, Ohio, invented the electrolytic process for refining aluminum in 1886.

Robert Seaton has been appointed branch manager of Home Mutual Savings and Loan Association's Westlake - Daly City office, according to Sherman Miller, executive vice president of the 75-year-old savings institution. Prior to joining Home Mutual, Seaton was associated with a Peninsula savings institution in an operations capacity. Upon joining Home Mutual, Seaton entered their management trainee program, culminating in his recent appointment.

'Yuletide Frolic' Holiday Show Saturday Night At Dan'l Webster

Final rehearsals have been completed for an annual Christmas stage show and party to be presented by the Hobby Playhouse of St. Francis Heights, at Daniel Webster School Auditorium, 425 El Dorado drive, Daly City, this Saturday (December 17) at 8 p.m. There is no admission fee.

The 60-minute stage presentation, "A Yuletide Frolic," was made possible in the school auditorium through the cooperation of H. Z. Weibel, Daniel Webster's principal, and the Jefferson Elementary School District.

Primarily, the show is for the benefit of parents, relatives and friends of the participating students, many who attend Daniel Webster School. Most are in the six to nine-year-old bracket and are eager to demonstrate for their parents what they've accomplished during the 90 days since the Hobby Playhouse opened for enrollments in St. Francis Heights.

"A Yuletide Frolic" is a song-and-dance skit produced under the direction of Mrs. William J. Scanlon. It will feature the talents of such St. Francis Heights kiddies as Deborah Baldwin, Barbara Carey, Christine Drocco, Candance Gallmann, Cindy Grasberger, Debbie James, Lisa and Lori Kaplan, Sylvia Manriquez, Maureen Mylett, Bonnie O'Malley, Margaret Peeff, Diane Sanborn, Katherine "Taffy" Scanlon, Sherilyn Scott, and Barbara Wasserman. Also in the cast are Shelley Levy, Howard James, and Johnnie O'Toole.

Orchestra section consists of Mattie Fischer, pianist; Emily Dunn, violinist; Ray Dunn, guitar; and banjoists Walter Price and Joseph Pavek.

A limited number of free shows will be given by the Hobby Playhouse for local and Peninsula charitable groups and reputable organizations immediately following the New Year, Mrs. Scanlon said. Any worthy group in this category may make future engagements by phoning VA 4-0063 during daytime hours, and Wyman 2-1934 after 6 p.m., and on weekends.

Lincoln PTA Singers Fete The Holidays

Children's voices filled the air as the joys of the season were extended at the Abraham Lincoln School PTA meeting on December 6, when the glee club, composed of fifth and sixth graders, sang many traditional carols, under the direction of Mrs. Patricia Hackett, music teacher for Jefferson elementary schools.

Appropriately attired in pajamas and nightgowns and with various sound effects, Mrs. Nancy Pittman's fourth graders recited a choral reading of "The Night Before Christmas."

An elaborate festive social hour was enjoyed by all. The Christmas Carols, played by Mrs. William Bemis, music chairman, added to the feeling of good fellowship which pervaded the hour. During the social hour members had an opportunity to examine the articles contributed for the white elephant sale. Hostesses were mothers of fifth and sixth grade children.

Riordan Five Beats W'moor Varsity, 47-42; Ram Lightweights Win

Westmoor's varsity cagers lost to Riordan, 47-42, Tuesday to give the Rams a 3-2 practice game record. Last week the Rams were defeated by the City College of San Francisco JV's, 39-33.

Center Barry Krohn was high pointer for Westmoor in both tilts. He had 12 against Riordan and 16 against the collegians. Guard Steve Payette got 11 points against Riordan, and Coach Tony Giammona thinks Steve may find a spot in the starting lineup.

Byron Van Alstyne's Westmoor lightweights defeated Riordan's 30's, 46-38, with Rich Harter, with 16, and Harry Brown, 10, setting the pace.

The Rams this Friday night host Lick-Wilmerding with a 7:30 tipoff at Westmoor. Next Tuesday the Rams meet Balboa, and Wednesday they face Galileo. On December 31, the Westmoor varsity will meet the school's alumni squad.

Second Half Of Duck Hunting Season Underway

Most of California had a split waterfowl hunting season this year and the second half of the season opened Saturday, December 10.

DFG spokesmen say that if there is some good "duck weather" during the second part of the season, hunting should be good. Recent storms and cold weather have moved the birds into the valleys. Good populations of ducks are now on the California wintering grounds and goose populations are the highest in recent years. The above normal rainfall during November helped to improve both feed and water conditions for waterfowl.

The public shooting grounds of all Department waterfowl management areas are open.

During the first part of the season first time hunters had priority until one-half hour before shooting time, but hunters can be handled more effectively on the waterfowl management areas by having both reservations and first-time priorities cut off at the same time. After that time all hunters will go in on a first-come first-served basis.

Sports-Travel Show At San Jose To Feature Rare Guns Collection

One of the world's greatest collections of old guns, featuring two revolvers carried by General George A. Custer, will be exhibited at the third annual Santa Clara Valley Boat, Sports and Travel show, Friday night through Sunday, January 6-7-8, 1961, at Fairgrounds Exposition Hall, San Jose.

Frank Brabant, curator of the Harolds Club Museum, announced that the crowd-pleasing circular booth with its rare weapons in the theme of "Around the World in 80 Days" will be installed at the San Jose show.

More than 100 firearms will be displayed, including a chain-driven revolver, a 20-shot repeater, a combination sword and revolver, a lady's pocketbook six-shooter, a target rifle with right shoulder rest and left eye sights, and a combination shotgun-bludgeon.

General Custer's 1851 model Starr Conversion revolvers are features of the priceless collection which is displayed in a colorful setting.

Visitors are greeted by a unique mannequin of Judge Roy Bean, "The Law West of the Pecos," and are given dealer certificates free of charge. Attendants also pass out gun brochures, strip maps, writing pads and other souvenirs from Harolds Club.

The gun display is just one of many attractions of this year's Boat, Sports and Travel Show, which also will include a galaxy of boats and boating equipment, skin diving exhibitions, archery displays, motion pictures of racing and sports, trailers for hauling boats and for camping, and information on boating laws and safety regulations for boaters.

Thirteen-Year-Old Bob Doyle Rolls 8 Straight Strikes Here!

By Bob Sexton

Thirteen-year-old Bob Doyle, a veteran of two years in Bantam League play, is the talk of Westlake Bowl.

Last week he rolled eight straight strikes and had a 230 game!

He's looking forward to bowling in the Jr. Bay Area Classic League which rolls at Westlake and at Castle Lanes on Mondays.

In the Bantam Boys League it was a good day with many youngsters coming in with big games and series. At the top of the pack was Billy Kitchen with his 178-167—345 series. For an eleven-year-old, that's real bowling. Behind Billy was Rob Basso's 131-194—325, followed by Frank Lawson with 148-143—291.

Also in this Bantam Boys league, Dons T.V. team, composed of Rich Leverenz, Billy Kitchen, Ron Basso, Ron Tibias and Bob Hood, broke bantam team records as they rolled team games of 661 and 690 scratch.

Another standout bowler in the bantam loop is Jeff Bernard. This week Jeff came in with a 178-126—304 series.

Leaders in the Jr. Boys Handicap league Saturday were Bob Cowan with his usual splendid performance — this week a 575 series; Jim Fisher, 544; Bob Morrison, 532; Bob Doyle, 561, and Bob Grout, 524.

Pat Marks and Sharon Sylvester were tops in the Jr. Girls Handicap. Pat had games of 138-191-139 for a 468 series, while Sharon had games of 145-154-162 for a 461. Marg Clark also had a 400 series. Hers was a 416.

In the upper division of the bantam boys leagues, the Pepsi Cola league, four boys hit for 400 series — Fred Arnke, 442; Kieth Schiller, 412; Stu Scott, 407, and Roy Hannah. The high game rolled in this league was a 165 by Bill Mulcrevy.

JEFF BEATS TAMALPAIS, BALBOA

Unbeaten Indian Cagers Will Preview Potential In Palo Alto Tourney

Undefeated in three practice games entering this week, Coach Mike Orlich's Jefferson varsity basketballers hope to explode next week in the fourth annual Palo Alto Invitational Tournament.

The Indians, who won the Palo Alto affair four years ago, open the scramble next Monday at 4 p.m. against Washington's Eagles of San Francisco. Capuchino, co-favorite with Jeff for Peninsula League honors this season, is in the tourney along with Poly of SF, Serra, Burlingame, Cubberly and the host school.

Last week Orlich's all-senior first team swept past Balboa, 45-35, and Tamalpais, 54-42. Forward Alan Lee led the romp over Bal with 11 points. Hiram Sibley and Gary Molossi each had 10, and Bobby With accounted for 9 points.

Against Tamalpais, guard With took honors with 13. Molossi had 10, and Stoller and Lee contributed nine apiece.

The Jeff lightweights, despite 12 points by Mike Schultz, lost to Balboa, 39-32, but they measured Tamalpais' 30's, 37-28, as Schultz again showed the way with 12.

Orlich's varsity lineup for the Peninsula League campaign will be Stoller and Lee at forwards, Sibley at the pivot, and Molossi and With at guards. Molossi was All-Peninsula and led the league in scoring last season. Stoller and With made the All-Peninsula lightweight team.

This Friday night the Jeff varsity tangles with the San Francisco State JV's in the college gym.

Jefferson Decisions San Rafael Fives

Jeff High's varsity cagers won their fourth practice game Tuesday, posting a 49-43 decision over San Rafael High. Gary Molossi led the scoring with 16, followed by Bobby With with 11.

Rick Warne's Jeff 30's also won, 38-28, as Jim Carmazza hit for 15 and George Claus for 9 points.

'A Jewish Festival In December'

By Rabbi Solomon Shore
B'nai Israel
Daly City

Millions of American citizens of the Jewish faith will celebrate the Jewish "Festival of Lights" this year with great enthusiasm and devotion. This eight-day holiday has become highly revered in this freedom-loving country. Jewish children, especially, look forward to this joyous festival because of its merriments and its exchange of gifts.

The holiday in recent years has become part of the program in school assemblies where some plays and songs depict the spirit of "Peace On Earth" among all men. In many schools, some Chanukah songs are included in order to satisfy the spiritual needs of Jewish students who hold the significance of this holiday in high esteem.

All synagogues and temples are observing this festival season by special religious assemblies — with the lighting of candles each evening and the singing of "Rock of Ages."

The holiday had its origin some 2200 years ago in the Holy Land during the Greek rule throughout Asia Minor. The lighting of candles signifies the emergence of the Jewish worship from oppressive measures enforced at that time.

All through Jewish history the observance of this holiday has become a noble and ethical part of Judaism. The memory of thousands of Jewish men and women who fought bravely for the preservation of religious freedom has never been forgotten.

More than 100 Jewish youngsters will gather at Temple Rodeph Sholom, located at the corner of Brussels and Silliman streets, this Sunday at 2 p.m. to engage in a religious celebration which will depict the heroism of the Maccabees of old.
